PCEF

THE PORTLAND CLEAN ENERGY COMMUNITY BENEFITS FUND

PCEF exists to help Portlanders navigate a changing climate and to ensure that the people most impacted are at the heart of our solutions.

The Portland Clean Energy Community Benefits Fund (PCEF) started with frontline communities – those hit first and worst by the climate crisis. Communities that have often been left out of decision making came together, drafted a ballot measure, knocked on thousands of doors, and passed it through people power alone.

PCEF started with this bold, grassroots vision. Today, PCEF generates nearly $200M per year to invest in lowering emissions, creating good-paying green jobs, and making Portland more climate resilient.

CLIMATE INVESTMENT PLAN:

The Climate Investment Plan is our roadmap for deploying $1.6B over five years toward climate solutions. Here's how we do it:

- Community Grants. The cornerstone of PCEF. We've awarded funding to more than 175 projects, all designed and led by community-based organizations.
- Mini Grants program. Up to $5,000 grants for smaller, community-driven projects on a quarterly basis.
- Strategic Programs. Climate projects based on shared City and community priorities, emissions reduction, timeliness, need, and social impacts.
- Collaborating for Climate Action. Large-scale initiatives that include at least one public-sector partner and led by a nonprofit. Projects must reduce or sequester emissions and create economic opportunities.
