Chief's Letter

We are pleased to present the 2018 Portland Police Bureau Annual Report.

When I was sworn in as Chief of Police on October 2, 2017, I committed to three goals: crime prevention and reduction; community engagement and inclusion; and organizational excellence. Information in this report directly relates to those three goals.

We need to be an organization that is introspective and accountable. My vision for the Portland Police Bureau is to not only be in line with national best practices expected for 21st Century Policing, but to raise the bar on all levels.

In this report, you will see just a snapshot of some of our accomplishments in 2018. I'm proud of the work that has been done over the last 18 months as well as the current creative strategies being employed.

You will also find our challenges. Primarily, many relate to our staffing shortage that affects every single division in the Bureau. Hiring has not kept up with retirements and we continue to face severe issues related to these vacancies. However, we continue to refine our recruitment efforts and have spent considerable time reviewing our hiring process to look for efficiencies and enhancements. We are also looking at our recruitment and hiring efforts through an equity lens to better understand any barriers for hiring diverse candidates. Our goal is to bring our staffing levels to authorized strength and we look forward to hiring and training the next generation of officers.

We have a full text version on our website of our accomplishments and challenges for those who want a deeper understanding of what is occurring within the organization.

We hope this report provides a clear understanding of the great work being performed each and every day on behalf of our community.

Best,

Chief Danielle M. Outlaw

Executive Summary

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

■ Organizational Excellence

Department of Justice: Continued to make great progress on DOJ Settlement agreement. Additional policies and training have been implemented. Please see DOJ Compliance for the full list (page 7).

Equity: Continued the support of the Bureau’s implicit bias training, which every sworn member went through. Implemented procedural justice training, which is now incorporated into every aspect of the Bureau’s policies and training.

Executive Development: Chief Outlaw directed the Training Division to look for more opportunities to design training for managers/future leaders. Conducted training for lieutenants and hosted an Executive Development day.

Internal Survey: Conducted surveys of sworn and nonsworn personnel on perceptions through the National Platform of the Police Foundation. The results will inform the Bureau’s policies, training and internal procedural justice practices.

Leadership Team: Created the position of Deputy Chief. Promoted two new Assistant Chiefs.

Staffing: Received 49 additional officer positions in the FY 2018-19 budget. Continued to look for ways to increase diversity as well as retention. Identified new avenues for recruitment; including open houses, college classroom presentations and applicant pool functions where interested candidates were exposed to the Bureau and the city. The Bureau hosted its the first interns from John Jay College and the University of Southern Mississippi , where the Bureau has been actively recruiting a diverse group of officer candidates.

Strategic Plan: Throughout 2018, the Bureau embarked on a year-long Strategic Planning process, which included community and internal input that will focus the Bureau’s direction for five years.

Technology: With the help of the Bureau of Technology Service (BTS), the Police Bureau rolled out more than $2 million worth of Mobile Desk Computers’ replacements on time and on budget.

■ Crime Prevention and Reduction

Crime Statistics: In 2018, the NIBRS Group A reported crime remained stable compared to the prior year. (For a full description of NIBRS Group A reported crimes, visit: www.portlandoregon.gov/police/article/618535)

The majority of offenses experienced slight changes, while a few had larger increases or decreases. There were fewer larceny offenses associated with car prowls (-4%) and fewer motor vehicle thefts (-5%). Other property offenses experienced decreases including arson, burglary, and vandalism. See page 28 for 2018 Crime Statistics.

Executive Summary (con’t.)

Collaborative Policing: Implemented the beginning of more collaborative policing model, where divisions come together to combine resources to focus on significant crimes and livability issues.

Data Driven Policing: Continued to roll out Tableau software designed to assist precinct and division leadership in fulfilling the Chief’s expectation of using data to inform resource deployment and crime prevention and reduction strategies.

Gun Violence Reduction Team: Reviewed and revamped the way the Bureau responds to gun violence to created a more collaborative and widespread response. See page 19 for more information.

■ Community Engagement and Inclusion

Community Engagement App: Developed a Community Engagement Application for members to provide data on community engagement activities. Previously, there was no central place to acquire this information.

Community Engagement Events: Conducted community engagement activities, including a Bureau open house, precinct open houses and the first-ever History Day at the Traffic Division in St. Johns. Created new Barbershop and Salon Forums to better engage the community in smaller groups to have productive discussions and receive feedback.

Homeless liaison position: Received funding for a homeless liaison position. This liaison position will help build relationships with all city partners, social service agencies and community members. The expected hire date is Spring 2019.

Enhanced Behavioral Health Unit: Added two Behavioral Health Response Teams, each consisting of an officer and mental health professional, to assist in conducting follow-up outreach and connections to service providers for potential clients in the behavioral health system, including those in the homeless community.

Training: Received authorization in the FY 18/19 budget for three new positions in the Training Division, focused on leadership, procedural justice and wellness. These positions will review and expand on current class curriculum and evaluate the long-term training in those areas. They will also enhance opportunities to address members’ overall health and well-being.

Executive Summary (con't.)

CHALLENGES

■ Organizational Excellence

Facilities

The Bureau has aging facilities and will begin a facility plan in 2019. Many precincts struggle with appropriate space, including lockers. Central Precinct lacks a community room on the ground floor. When visitors come to the Justice Center, they must be checked in with identification and escorted to one of the conference rooms upstairs (per Bureau security policy), making it cumbersome for all involved.

Furthermore, the Property and Evidence Division continued to struggle with repeated break-ins at the property, mostly directed at the impounded derelict RVs.

Staffing

Staffing throughout the Bureau remains the number one challenge. Because responding to emergency calls for service was the number one priority, specialty units continued to provide rotational support for patrol and that affected their workload as well. For example, the Traffic Division was required to provide rotational support 25 percent of the time despite the high number of traffic (fatal and serious) crashes. Staffing vacancies also affected the supervisory ranks (command and control), investigations and our administrative functions.

- Creating a Diverse Workforce: The Bureau looked at its recruitment through an equity lens to address any barriers to attracting and hiring a diverse pool of candidates. The Bureau continued to enhance its social media and advertising to attract a more wide-range of candidates. In a tight job market, there also continued to be difficulty in recruiting professional staff members.
- Hiring Process: The Bureau continued to struggle with the length of time it took to process applicants (approximately one year). The Personnel Division identified various touch points in the process, which contributed to this timeline. New efforts, such as incorporating new technology, implementing timelines for the various stages in the process and training investigators in best practices were initiated. The Bureau continued to examine ways to improve the efficiency without sacrificing the integrity of the system.
- Special events: Special events (including unplanned and unpermitted events) took its toll on the Bureau's staffing levels. During some events, there was a delay in responding to Priority 1 emergency calls. Staffing levels also affected Bureau personnel in on-call positions. There were fewer personnel available to respond to assaults, robberies and fatal crashes. This contributed to widespread fatigue. Further, on weekends, the Entertainment District continued to be populated by thousands who traveled to a concentrated area to drink in local establishments. This utilized considerable police resources.
- Partners: The Transit Division also faced critical staffing issues and despite funding, all agencies involved did not have enough staff to fill vacancies. The Transit Division reduced weekend service on the west side of the metro area and used higher rates of overtime to meet staffing needs.

Executive Summary (con't.)

Policy Review

DOJ-related directives require an initial review six months after enactment. Thereafter, the review schedule changes to annually. The Policy Development Team had to spend a large part of 2018 conducting the six-month reviews of those rather than working on other Bureau directives. It is hoped that the six-month reviews will be completed early in 2019, and the Team will be able to address other policies. Despite the large volume of work produced during the Team's two-year existence, there are more than 100 directives that still have not been reviewed by the Team.

Use of Deadly Force: The Portland Police Bureau understands the negative impact the six officer-involved shootings in 2018 had on those involved as well as our community. The use of deadly force impacted our efforts to build and maintain trust in the community. As part of the use of force review process, the investigation of these was forwarded to the Multnomah County District Attorney's Office for consideration to convene a Grand Jury. In addition, the Bureau conducted an internal administrative review of the incidents and the cases were scheduled to go before the Police Review Board (PRB), which is comprised of community members, Bureau members and representatives from the Independent Police Review. Lastly, the OIR Group, which is contracted by the City of Portland, will review these 2018 cases in the future. OIR published a report of prior officer-involved shootings in February 2018, and the Chief accepted their recommendations. For more information on the 2018 cases, visit:

<https://www.portlandoregon.gov/police/76653>

For more information on the OIR report, visit:

<https://www.portlandoregon.gov/police/annualreport>

In addition, now that Oregon law requires the Grand Jury to be recorded, a significant amount of time passed between the date of the incident and the transcript's release. This can be several weeks or months until the community directly hears what occurred from the officer's testimony. This is especially important in cases when the officer is the only witness or there are limited witnesses. We understand the impact of limited communication, and in the absence of it, how a false narrative can take hold and cause widespread misconceptions that further erode trust. We continued to work to get as much information out as quickly as possible to try to mitigate this.

Accountability/Trust: Despite many enhancements throughout the Internal Affairs review process, the Bureau still struggled to meet its 180-day timeline for the completion of other administrative investigations. The Bureau recognized the procedural justice implications inherent in these delays and the toll it took on all those involved, and we continued to work diligently to reduce the timeline.

Executive Summary (con't.)

■ Crime Prevention and Reduction

Data Analysis

The Police Bureau is fully utilizing data-informed policing. However, the biggest challenges for analysts in 2018 was the timeliness of some data. This was due to the backlog of reports processed by the Records Division, which struggled with a lack of adequate staffing.

RegJIN

RegJIN replaced the Bureau’s aging data system (PPDS) in 2015 and brought together metro area law enforcement agencies under one system. The system was not effective or did not work with many agencies’ current technological foundation and they chose to leave RegJIN. Due to the agencies’ withdrawal, the Bureau struggled to obtain timely police reports and data from our partner agencies. This made evidence-based, data-informed policing more difficult outside of the Portland area and drove up the Bureau’s cost to maintain the system.

■ Community Engagement and Inclusion

Public Records Requests

The Public Records Unit had a significant backlog of records requests, driven in part by an increasing number of complex requests by media, as well as the lack of a sufficient number of personnel. To better respond, the Bureau committed to hiring more Records personnel and evaluated procedures for efficiencies.

Reporting directly to the Chief of Police is the Deputy Chief and three Assistant Chiefs (who oversee each of the Bureau’s branches. Also reporting directly to the Chief is the Professional Standards Division, the Criminal Intelligence Unit and the Strategic Communications Unit.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

The Professional Standards Division includes: the DOJ Compliance Team; Internal Affairs; the Force Inspector; the Employee Information System; and the Policy Unit.

DOJ Compliance

The Police Bureau continued to make great stride toward fulfilling the requirements of the DOJ Settlement Agreement. In its most recent compliance assessment, which covered the end of 2017, all of 2018 and 2019, the DOJ found the Bureau in substantial compliance in all PPB-related action items except six. This demonstrates a marked improvement from the previous report that found 37 outstanding items that were only in partial compliance.

To learn more about the status of the Settlement Agreement with the Department of Justice, visit:
<https://www.portlandoregon.gov/police/annualreport>

Employee Information System (EIS)

The Employee Information System (EIS) is an application that compiles information from the Police Bureau and other data sources to enable a comprehensive review of a sworn member’s work performance. The use of EIS benefits the Bureau and sworn members alike by facilitating professional growth through a feedback process that reinforces the Bureau’s management and accountability systems, standards and expectations.

Chief’s Office

Accomplishments included:

- Marked increase in the compliance of supervisors’ timely review of their officers’ Employee Information System updates
- Utilized EIS information for a new risk management tool that expands on the domains of review beyond use of force
- Ensured RU Managers and supervisors to conduct prompt reviews of EIS records of employees new to their command and documented the review occurred in the EIS performance tracker (116B – 84% compliance)
- Conducted data analysis of units and supervisors to ensure compliance with required EIS reviews, while identifying patterns of activity (116C – 80% compliance)

Internal Affairs

The Internal Affairs Division is responsible for conducting administrative investigations into alleged policy violations by Portland Police Bureau members. Its goal is to complete investigations within 180 days, while producing a complete and thorough investigation to ensure procedural justice for both the community and Bureau members.

During a record-setting increase in case load and while operating short one administrative position, the Internal Affairs Unit improved timeliness, seeing average case duration drop to 159 days from 192 days in 2017. They also:

- Handled a record of 85 internally generated cases (B cases - 2017=51; 2016=56; 2015=34), and 271 citizen-related "C" cases (C cases-2017=196; 2016=227; 2015=168)
- Investigators averaged a case load of 19.4 for the year, on a 70-day timeline
- Completed 1,004 interviews, versus 604 in 2017
- Timelines for investigations significantly improved. The goal is resolution in 180 days and in 2018, it went from 57% meeting that goal to 83%

Force Inspector

The Force Inspector is a command position within the Professional Standards Division responsible for reviewing all uses of force and making recommendations regarding improvements to the systems of accountability in relation to force management. The Force

Inspector supervises a team of professional staff who conduct audits and analysis of force used by the Portland Police Bureau.

In 2018:

- The Force Inspector and analysts provided data analysis for multiple audits and use, including: the Annual Force Audit Report; the Annual Force Summary Report, 4-Quarterly Force Summary Reports; Independent Review Division Annual Data Request and more. For a complete list, visit: <https://www.portlandoregon.gov/police/annualreport>

Policy Unit

The Policy Development Team is tasked with reviewing existing Bureau directives and creating new directives to ensure alignment with best practices and promote accountability and excellence. In 2018:

- The Policy Development Team shepherded 30 directives through the entire enactment process in 2018. The team worked on an additional 46 directives that were in various stages of executive reconciliation.

STRATEGIC COMMUNICATIONS UNIT

The mission of the Strategic Communications Unit is to provide strategic messaging and creative services and solutions to the community, media and Bureau members; increase transparency, trust and engagement through smart content, open data; and provide creative solutions and raise awareness by proactive messaging. The team uses traditional media, social media and a variety of other platforms to provide information and raise awareness about crime and traffic safety; as well as the organization and its members.

In 2018, the team issued an average of 75 news releases a month, and answered hundreds of news inquiries. The team worked on a variety of other projects as well, including reports, presentations to City Council and officer-involved shootings. The Unit raised awareness on a variety of subjects from distracted driving to domestic violence through monthly campaigns that crossed over all messaging platforms.

The Strategic Communications Unit also worked extensively with the Recruitment Team, and produced videos, graphics and social media posts to support their mission of hiring police officers.

CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE UNIT

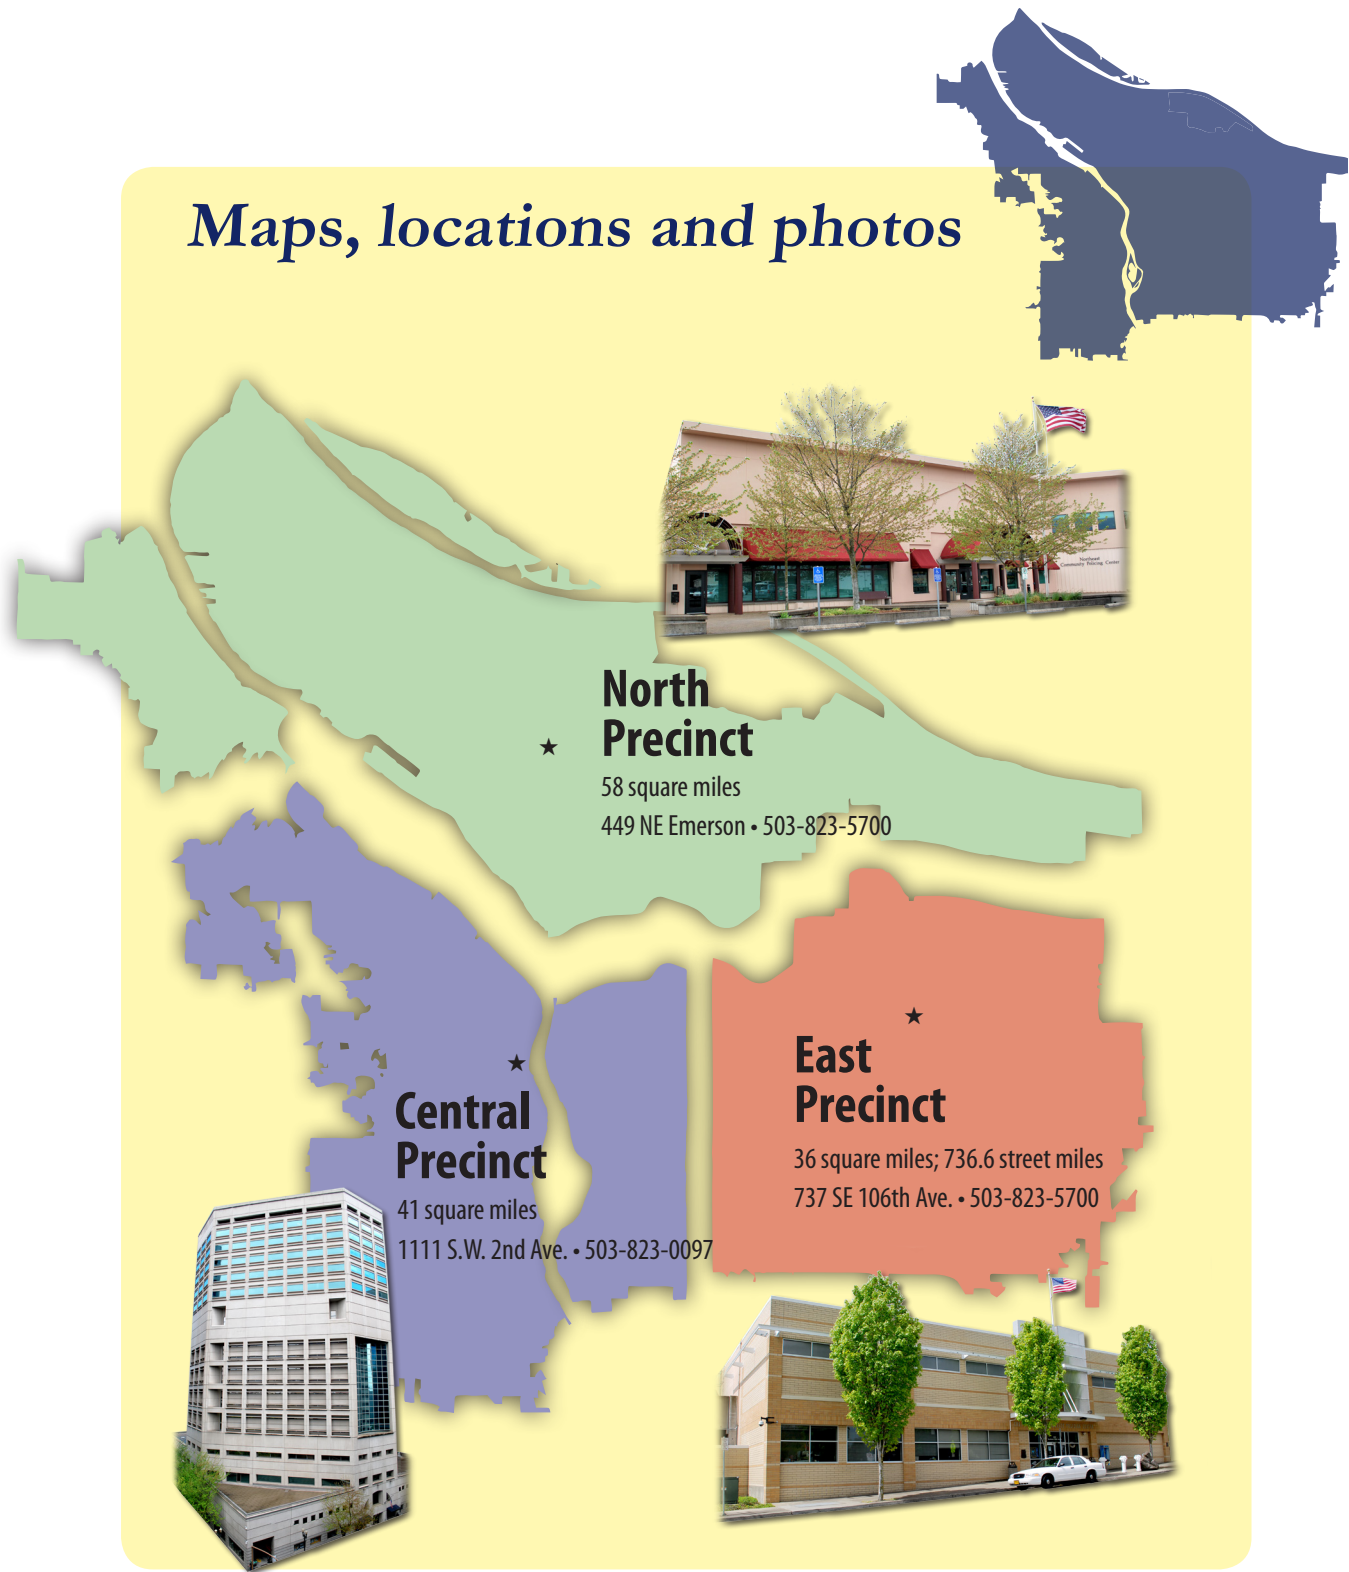

The Criminal Intelligence Unit (CIU) provides investigative support involving cases of organized crime, domestic and international terrorism, Homegrown Violent Extremists (HVE), threats to commit acts of mass and/or targeted violence, organized crime, and special investigative projects. CIU has a working relationship with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF), in accordance with Portland City Council.

Additionally, CIU conducts threat assessments for major events, dignitary visits, and investigates threats to public officials or other high-profile individuals. CIU also monitors global events that may have a nexus to public safety in Portland.

In 2018, CIU conducted 64 assessments and investigations on threats of violence, including one investigation with the Joint Terrorism Task Force, resulting in a federal indictment for Transmitting Threatening Communications with Intent to Extort. Additionally, CIU assisted the U.S. Secret Service, U.S. Capitol Police, and other federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies on various investigations.

The total number of distinct Group A incidents is the count of all incidents with at least one Group A offense. Incidents may include multiple offenses.
2018 vs 2017 change is calculated as: (2018 Offense Count - 2017 Offense Count) / 2017 Offense Count.
Statistics are based on date an offense was reported. Cases marked as "unfounded" are not included in crime statistics.
Homicide counts are based on the date of the initial offense report and not when the incident was first ruled a homicide. Justifiable Homicide and Vehicular Homicide are not included in Homicide totals.

In 2018, the NIBRS Group A reported crime remained stable compared to the prior year. The majority of offenses experienced slight changes, while a few had larger increases or decreases. There was an 8% increase in reported assault offenses, which was almost two additional offenses reported per day in 2018 when compared to 2017. Weapons law violations also increased by 27%. In contrast, there were fewer larceny offenses associated with car prowls (-4%) and fewer motor vehicle thefts (-5%). Though motor vehicle thefts decreased, the number of cars stolen was still at levels approximately twice as high as 2014. Other property offenses experienced decreases including arson, burglary, and vandalism.
