Question 2: What innovative strategies or visionary approaches should the City Administrator consider over the next five years?

Summary

Open response question

The primary focus for the new City Administrator should be on enhancing public safety and addressing homelessness through compassionate and effective solutions. The community calls for a shift away from reliance on police sweeps and toward comprehensive services that expedite access to shelters and support for mental health and substance abuse. Addressing public safety involves not only managing crime but also ensuring clean and safe public spaces, which can help revitalize neighborhoods and foster a sense of community.

Housing affordability remains a pressing concern, necessitating immediate action such as implementing rent controls and developing new affordable housing options. By promoting zoning changes and utilizing vacant properties, the city can increase housing density, particularly in high-opportunity areas. Economic development should be prioritized to stimulate job growth and attract investments, especially in underutilized areas of the city, with a particular focus on supporting local entrepreneurs and small businesses to create a thriving local economy.

Finally, fostering cross-sector collaboration and enhancing community engagement are crucial for effective governance. By breaking down bureaucratic silos and utilizing participatory budgeting processes, residents can play a vital role in shaping policies that affect their lives. Implementing accountability measures and ensuring financial sustainability will also be essential to achieve the city's long-term goals, creating a livable and inclusive Portland that works for all its residents.

Repetitive Themes

Public Safety and Crime Reduction:

The need for enhanced public safety measures, addressing homelessness without relying on police sweeps, and improving street cleanliness.

Housing Affordability:

The urgent need for affordable housing solutions, including rent control, a freeze on rent increases, and innovative housing development strategies.

Economic Development:

Focus on revitalizing the local economy, supporting small businesses, and increasing job growth through investment in underutilized spaces.

Homelessness Solutions:

Emphasis on providing comprehensive services to the homeless, including expedited shelter access and holistic support systems.

Cross-Sector Collaboration:

The importance of breaking down bureaucratic silos to foster collaboration between city departments and with external partners for more effective governance.

Q: What other communities do you identify with? Please select all that apply.

Note: We are partnering with the City of Portland and their Government Transition team and after much discussion, we decided on the following groups for the below reason.

Portland's Government Transition Plan and Transition Community Engagement Plan (Appendix A) states the importance of engaging a broad array of stakeholders and centering the voices of marginalized communities. The Community Engagement Plan includes a specific commitment to investing education and education resources in communities that have been traditionally left out of City Hall and city decision-making, including Black, Indigenous, Asian, Pacific Islander, Latinx/e, people of color, people with disabilities, immigrants and refugees, non-English speaking communities, people under age 25, houseless Portlanders, people who live east of 82nd Avenue, and the LGBTQIA+ community.

The Transition Team, with the help of the Government Transition Advisory Committee, agree that each community is indeed an important and essential part of Portland's democracy. However, the survey is asking this specific demographic question to determine if the City is able to move the needle in having those communities noted above to participate in more recent City engagement processes.
